

TURNED AWAY

Hundreds of People Unable
To get Into the Methodist Church Last Night

House was Packed to Hear
Children's Day Exercises
That Proved to be a Brilliant Success.

The children's day exercises at the St. Paul's M. E. church last night surpassed all efforts in that line and was a blaze of glory from beginning to end.

The house was literally packed, the Sunday school room and the gallery having been opened into the main auditorium. The church would probably hold a thousand persons, and by 7:15 p. m. every available space was taken and nearly enough persons were turned away to have refilled the large church.

The recitations and songs by the little children had been committed perfectly and the exercises were grand, not only because they showed the capabilities and talents of the children and the intense interests taken in them by fond and loving teachers and parents, but because it appealed to sentiment and caused those in the audience to think of bygone days, and tears dimmed many an eye as the little ones had concluded their entertainment.

The music by Wagoner's orchestra was fine and well appreciated; the singing by the school was good, and the several class exercises and songs were fine, showing close and successful training and were highly appreciated.

Recitations by Edwin Watson, Robert Kirk, Aileen Budd, Hugh Anderson, William Sexton, Katherine Wooden, James Watson, Harry Churchill, Frank Wooster, Mary Louise Bliss, William Henley, Weldon Brann, Mary Carr and Suanna Sexton were fine and far above the ordinary and entirely devoid of the dullness that sometimes characterizes the ordinary class day recitations.

"God Loves the Children," by Catherine Guffin, Dorothy Mulno, Dorothy Sparks and Margaret Thomas, was especially fine and much appreciated; a song by Weldon Kennedy and the duet by Mary Louise Bliss and Helen Hovey Daniels, came in for much favorable mention.

"Golden Buttercups" by Dorothy Wright, Waneta Maxey, Harriet Smith and Lela Kennedy was good, and "The Butterfly Song" by Leah Flint, Ruth Ashworth, Beulah Meredith, Aileen Budd, Gladys Henley, Marion Sparks and Jean McClanahan was grand and well received.

One of the closing features to this eminently successful entertainment was the song by the Young Ladies' Glee club, under the leadership of Prof. Craig, which was very fine.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants in profusion, artistically and most beautifully arranged which added greatly to the success of the entertainment.

The workers of the Sunday school are elated over the success of Children's Day of 1904, and are sorry that it was impossible for all who so desired, to attend the entertainment.

Preached Final Sermon.

Rev. Edwards who has been preaching at the M. E. church at Shelbyville for some time preached his last sermon there yesterday. In this connection the Jeffersonian of that city says: "at the evening service the Rev. Loren Edwards preached his parting sermon. The scripture lesson was Matt. 15:12-9; text, twenty-eighth verse and last sentence; subject, 'The Omnipotence of the Christian.' Those who were disposed to pre-judge were opinionated. The Rev. Edwards knew his subject and proved that this was man's element as given by the Divine one. A large congregation greeted the Rev. Edwards at this his closing meeting. The ladies chorus furnished a goodly number of selections. The Rev. Dimmitt will occupy the pulpit next Sunday."

FELL ON STREET

Charles Wolf Seized With Painters Colic on First Street Saturday Night.

Some little excitement was caused on First street Saturday night by a man falling near the alley between Main and Morgan streets. People congregated from all directions and it was learned that the man was Charles Wolf, a house painter, who resides with James Adams on Morgan street and who has been working for Elwood Ferguson in this city for some time.

Wolf has what is known as painters' colic, is somewhat addicted to the drink habit and it is only when he is drinking that he is seized with violent attacks of the colic.

The liquor affects his heart which is very weak and almost stops its action. During his spell Saturday night, Wolf was thoroughly conscious of what was going on but was wholly unable to move. Many efforts were made to arouse him, but to no avail and he was taken home about nine o'clock, where he recovered in about two hours.

Wolf had three of the spells last week and he has lain for several hours at a time in a comatose state. He is said to be a man of family and is about twenty-eight years old. He came here from Connersville.

THE SINGERS

Of the Old Diapason School
Much in Evidence.

Large Auditorium of the Christian Church Nearly Filled Yesterday.

The old Diapason Singers met yesterday at the Christian church, it being their regular semi-annual meeting and the auditorium of the large Christian church was nearly filled with members of the old class, and people living in the city, who came to hear the singing.

The weather was ideal and many country people came to the meeting from this and nearby counties.

Hon. David McKee, of Connersville, who never fails to meet with the singers was among the out of town persons present.

The meeting was called to order and after an organ voluntary by Mr. Small, the meeting was begun by singing "America," and the audience joined in with a will.

After a preliminary arrangement so that the different voices would be properly located, the singing began and a number of popular hymns were sung out of the old Diapason books, among them being "Nearer My God to Thee," "Gliding Away," and "Beautiful Sunshine."

A number of these songs were sung and considering the long time which had elapsed since these parties had sang together and out of these books, the songs were voted very fine and everyone present greatly enjoyed the reunion, and reminiscences suggested and brought to mind by the meeting.

New officers were elected and Dave McKee was elected president; Thomas Humes, vice president; Wm. L. King, treasurer; and Bert Reeves, secretary.

It was decided to hold the next meeting in October and to hold the meetings semi-annually. During the meeting those present were favored with a beautiful solo by the daughter of Mr. McKee, who accompanied him, and a solo by Miss Ida Spurrier, which was well received.

Reunion at Greensburg.

The city of Greensburg was decorated in gala attire Saturday in honor of the veterans of our wars, and a grand and most successful reunion was held in the court house yard.

Fully twelve hundred persons listened to the addresses of Congressmen Miers and Watson, both of whom delivered some of the best addresses ever delivered in that city. The drum corps which furnished the music played some old-fashioned stirring war-time music.

The Gentle Art Of Sympathizing

By Mrs. FRANK LESLIE

DON'T know any circumstance of social life so "trying to men's souls" as the circumstance demanding pity. Death is bad enough, but it is BY NO MEANS THE WORST. Most of us have been through the dark and terrible hour when that which seemed our all has been laid away from our sight and from among men, and our friends have come dressed in somber clothes and have one by one insisted upon LAYING BARE THE WOUND we would fain hide under our mourning garb and expressing more or less crudely, more or less delicately, the sympathy of which they have come to assure us. It is a SOCIAL NECESSITY that they should come.

Bereavement is bad enough, and to very few, if to any, is it given to speak the words of comfort or reassurance. But there are sorrows far more cruel than death; there are bereavements more hopeless than those of the grave, and it is in these that sympathy may indeed DESPAIR of fitly expressing itself.

A man in some prominent position becomes a defaulter and runs away, leaving his wife and family to bear the shame and notoriety of HIS crime. Now, what sympathy can one express to such a mourner as that wife? What word would seem other than presumptuous and intrusive to such bereavement? And yet we all do feel sorry for her; we all do long to let her know it and to comfort her.

But yet again there are griefs even deeper and more sensitive than that of the insulted and deserted wife; there is an agony of shame not to be shifted to other shoulders; there is a bereavement known to all the world and yet which the sufferer would fain hide from even her own eyes, and this is when a woman has too readily yielded up her affections to one who simply amused himself with her easy credulity, and when her devotion began to pall "he kissed and rode away." EVERY ONE in her little world knows the story. The malicious whisper, "Well, she threw herself at his head." The kinder hearted ones murmur, "Poor thing!" And the sharpest sting of her mortification is that she knows that THEY ALL KNOW and are scorning at her or pitying her. Still she can bear it as long as nobody says anything, but THEY WILL!

But there is no need of swelling the list of cases where the truest sympathy is expressed by apparent ignorance of any cause for sympathy. Every person of delicacy or a sensitive organization will recognize such cases for themselves, and to those who are not delicate or sensitive in their own personality no amount of teaching will effect the object. Most people and most things die very much what they were born, and the CLUMSY SYMPATHIZERS no doubt will exist when the world ceases, just as it did when it began to be.

IT IS, IN ONE WORD, A VERY DANGEROUS AND DELICATE MATTER EITHER TO GIVE OR RECEIVE SYMPATHY, AND ALL I CAN SAY IS, REMEMBER, LIKE FIRE, WATER AND GUNPOWDER, IT IS A GOOD THING SO LONG AS YOU KNOW HOW TO MANAGE IT. BUT IF YOU DON'T, FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE LET IT ALONE!

BIG NAVAL BATTLE

Is Said to Have Taken Place in Harbor of Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, June 13.—Rumors are in circulation here to the effect that a great naval battle has taken place off Port Arthur, in which two Russian and four Japanese battleships were sunk. No confirmation of the rumor can be obtained.

Hai Cheng, Manchuria, June 11.—(Delayed in transmission.)—A flanking movement of the Japanese around the Russian left from Feng Wang Cheng June 9 was repulsed with a loss of two whole battalions.

A large Japanese force moved out in the morning along the Feng Wang Cheng and Hai Cheng road. The Russians had a force strongly posted in a ravine thirty miles southwest of Mai Cheng. The Japanese were preceded by two battalions, who walked into the Russian ambush. They received a murderous rifle and artillery fire at close range and were wiped out, only one or two escaping.

The main Japanese force, which was greatly superior to the Russian force, tried to outflank the Russians, who drew off without losing a man. The Japanese, closing in, found the ravine vacant, save for their own dead.

Didn't Stay Out Long.

St. Petersburg, June 13.—Vice Admiral Skrydloff states that on June 7 he went within thirty miles of Port Arthur with the Vladivostok fleet and there ran into a fog. He found several Japanese torpedo boats and two battleships, which attacked him fiercely and inflicted some damage. The Russians returned the fire, but as none of the Port Arthur ships appeared, Vice Admiral Skrydloff returned to Vladivostok.

Heavy Russian Losses.

Tokio, June 13.—The military commission assigned to bury the Russian dead in the battle of Nan Shan hill at Kinchou May 26 has presented its final report. It was found that ten Russian officers and 664 men who fell in the battle had been carefully buried and thirty men were buried by the outposts, making the total number of killed left behind by the Russians 704.

Heavy Japanese Losses.

Liao Yang, June 13.—Ensign Marloff, who has returned from the battle of Saimatza, fought on June 7, says that the Japanese lost about 200 men. Reports of the Sluyen fight of June 8 say that the Japanese lost 100 killed and the Russians one killed and twenty-one wounded, including two officers.

Navy Finds Work.

Tokio, June 13.—Rear Admiral Togo reports that a part of the fleet bombarded the west coast of the Liao Tung peninsula near Kai Chau and drove back a military train that was approaching southward. No trains have been seen since.

Since the decree of the Czar in 1899 depriving the people of Finland of their constitutional liberty, 150,000 Finns have come to the United States. New comers are looked out for by the Finnish Exiles' club, at Battery Park, New York. Ten per cent. of Finland's population of 2,000,000 is now in America.

ROELL'S CURVES

Were Acceptable and Were Pounded to the Willows

Rushville Team Ran Away With Duesseldorfers by Terrific Batting in Eighth Inning.

And who would have thought that Mr. Roell's curves could be of such an acceptable nature. The surprising part of it is that the Rushville team did not get more hits in earlier part of the game.

Trouble courted Mr. Roell at the beginning of the eighth. The home team commenced to batter his ferocious curves to the four corners of the lot and the brewers, who were inclined to ascend to lofty heights, were unable to get back together. They could not think, their courage laxed, their fingers had attacks of ague and their arms got out of focus in attempts to throw.

Hardly has there been on the local grounds a batting streak like the one in the game yesterday afternoon. Almost every man up got a hit and hits meant runs. For a while the members of the local team chased each other round the bases like a set of school boys engaged in the game of cross tag. It was in this inning that the "grand old man" was touched for seven hits and it was only after the most difficult work on the part of the whole Duesseldorfer team that the side was retired.

The game itself was full of exciting plays. For seven innings it was one of the finest and fastest games ever played on the local grounds. Pitcher Wagner, who once more pitched ball of the shut out variety, pulled out of two bad holes when two and three were on bases respectively with only one man out in each case. He was given excellent support except in two or three instances and undoubtedly would have scored a shut out had right fielder Hendrix returned from dreamland in the seventh when the bases were full and two men were out. Hendrix, evidently was asleep and did not see Anselm's long drive soaring toward his place of business in time to make the third put out and as a result three of the beer bottlers crossed the plates.

Thoman the new catcher and utility man from Cincinnati, who has taken the place formerly held down by "Windy" Morgan more than satisfied the fans with his work in the field and at bat. Pruitt covered third in an excellent manner and Kiser who presided over the central garden and made several sensational catches.

There was one or two instances of poor base running on the part of Pruitt and others of the home team, but the general work of the locals was good.

The following tells how it happened:

A LIVELY CORPSE

Parties With Hearse and Carriages Greeted With a Smile.

Lizzie Leazenby, of Burnettsville, Indiana, was met at the train on her return from a visit by hearse and group of weeping relatives, who had expected to receive her corpse.

By long distance telephone she had sent word of her coming and the lines being bad it was necessary to repeat the message through several exchanges. When it reached the recipient it was considerably transformed and the word was spread that she was dead. Her grave was dug and all preparations were made for the funeral.

When the train stopped at the station the friends who had expected to receive a box from the baggage car were startled to see Miss Leazenby step, smiling and happy from the rear coach of the train. The funeral was for the present declared off.

FISTIC FIGHT

Horrie Brooks Attacks Elzie Powell this Afternoon on Main Street.

Some little excitement was aroused on Main street this afternoon about half-past three, owing to a mix-up between Horrie Brooks and Elza Powell.

While ascending the stairs near Frank Wilson's clothing store, Powell was attacked by Brooks, who, it is said forced him into a fistic encounter on the spot. The two men fought each other down the sidewalk until they reached the White House, where they started into the street. A large crowd assembled from all directions and several men, attempted to separate the fighters, but were prevented by Brooks and his father, James Brooks, who would let no one interfere. Several men seized James Brooks and held him while the fighters were separated.

Powell has just recovered from a sick spell and not caring to fight kept retreating from Brooks, who still followed him up and forced him to defend himself. During the encounter each man was struck and kicked several times, but Powell seemed to get the better of the argument. Neither was seriously hurt.

Powell went immediately after the encounter and filed an affidavit against Brooks for assault and battery with intent to kill.

The trouble today grew out of some former difficulties over a bicycle, which was repaired by Powell last week. Some objection was made to the work by Brooks, who refused to pay for the wheel and Powell threatened to keep the wheel for his pay.

At the time of going to press Brooks had not been arrested.

Our list grows. The people of Rush county appreciate a good daily.

By an oversight we omitted the name of Joe Stubbs on our State ticket which we supply today.

"Our age is strenuous to the breaking point," said Pres. Faunce, of Brown University in his baccalaureate sermon at Providence, R. I., yesterday. "Americans are bound nowhere under full sail. We have marvelous inventors, few scientists; excellent writers of school books, few authorities on education; admirable preachers, few theologians. Our thinkers have no time to brood and ripen before action begins."

The Indianapolis Star "gets no better fast," and is a sore disappointment to the old readers of the Journal.
Instead of the old Sunday Journal which we have known since childhood, we were handed yesterday a paper that added insult to injury. In the place of Jack Smith's cartoon, was a picture of some musician that has been employed by the Star to give some concerts in Indianapolis presumably to advertise the Star. This morning the Star gives a picture of groups of persons who went out to listen to the Star music. The people who hoped that McCulloch would change his paper to make it take the place of the Journal (in a way) are almost convinced now that he doesn't intend to do anything of the kind and are astonished at the man's nerve in proposing to furnish his sensational sheet to the people, and are horrified by his utter disregard of sentiment in tearing down the household name "Journal" and substituting for it the name that means sensationalism "The Star." After all, the name "Journal" would hardly apply to his publication.

County attorney, H. C. Sheridan, of Clinton county holds that the city had no right to confine a prisoner in the county jail without the officer making the arrest first securing a commitment for him. City attorney O. E. Bram-baugh, of Frankfort, complicates matters between the city and county officials by holding that prisoners who have violated a city ordinance or a State law may be confined at the county jail with or without a commitment, and can be held there until the authorities have an opportunity to give the prisoner a trial. He holds that it is the duty of the marshal, sheriff or police officer to arrest on view without warrant all persons known to have committed a crime of any kind, and that the sheriff has no right to refuse to accept such prisoner upon the demand of an officer of the city.

He holds that the law does not require that a commitment be issued at the time of the arrest. It is now evident that it will take the good officers of the Supreme court to decide the matter and then both attorneys will insist that they were right.

THE EXODUS BEGINS

Indiana Republican Leaders Turning
Their Faces Chicagoward.

Indianapolis, June 13.—The exodus of Republicans to the national convention at Chicago will begin this week.
Harry S. New, national committeeman, and several other prominent Hoosiers are already there. Chairman Goodrich, Joe E. Keating, Harry Starr, Congressman Hemenway and other members of that coterie who are known as the Fairbanks leaders are going Wednesday. The national committee will have a meeting that day. The big crowd of Indianans will move toward Chicago about Friday and Saturday, as the delegation will not have a meeting until Monday morning. Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge will, it is understood, go to Chicago about Friday night. Governor Durbin will attend the Grand Army meeting a part of the week and will probably land in Chicago Saturday afternoon. J. Frank Hanly, nominee for governor, Secretary of State Storms, Auditor D. E.
Sherrick, Union Banner Hunt and Congressman James E. Watson have reserved headquarters at the Hotel Lexington and will be there Sunday.
Nearly every party leader of prominence in the state will attend the convention.

The Republicans of the Fourth district will probably not hold their congressional convention until the first of September. W. E. Springer of Elizabethtown, the district chairman, who has been here talking over the situation, says that they are in no hurry in the Fourth about the congressional convention. The district is Democratic by from three to four thousand, and so the best the Republicans can do is to cut down the majority. Anderson Percifield of Nashville, Brown county, will be the nominee and he expects to make a vigorous campaign.
Springer says the Fourth will have two Republican members in the next legislature. He expects to see his party carry Bartholomew and Jefferson counties. Hugh Th. Miller, the nominee for lieutenant governor, represented Bartholomew last session, winning by a narrow margin. The county is normally Democratic. In Jefferson county there will be the old fight over again, as the Democrats have nominated Joe Cravens of Madison, a popular man, who overcame the Republican majority of 1,200 two years ago. Cravens is confident of winning again.

It was rumored today that Mayor Fogarty of South Bend may withdraw from the race for the Democratic nomination for governor. Back of this rumor there was another that several of the labor leaders are jealous of Fo-garty's good standing as a candidate and that they have let the party leaders know that he is persona non grata to them, although he is a union man. In turn it is said that the party leaders have hinted to Fogarty in a diplomatic way not to be misunderstood that he had better retire from the center of the political stage. Fogarty had started an aggressive canvass and was favorably received, but it is the belief here now that his name will not go before the state convention. The opinion is growing that a strong effort will be made to induce Hugh Dougherty of Bluffton to accept the nomination. He is due here tomorrow when it is expected that he will make a public statement.

To Boost Taggart's Boom.

Indianapolis, June 13.—A well-informed politician here was authority for the statement today that the Democratic leaders in Indiana don't want the vice presidential nomination to come to them this year for fear that it will lessen Thomas Taggart's chances of becoming national chairman. If the state should have a place on the ticket it might be pointed out that it would be advisable to strengthen the party by taking the national chairman from another section. Now it is being said that Taggart should be made national chairman so that the party may be strengthened in Hoosierdom. It looks now as if hosts of Indiana Democrats are going to the St. Louis convention for the purpose of boosting Taggart.
It is very likely that there will be between 2,000 and 3,000 Indiana men there, although word has been received that there will be but 120 tickets for this state.

WENT TO BOTTOM

Canadian Line Steamer Came
In Collision With a Collier.

FIVE PERSONS PERISH

More Than a Hundred On Board but
All Save Small Number Succeed In Escaping.

Disaster on St. Lawrence Between Quebec and Montreal Occurred Just at Dawn.

Montreal, June 13.—The Richelieu &
Ontario Navigation company's steamer Canada, bound from Quebec for Montreal, came into collision with the Dominion Coal company's collier Cape Breton, six miles below Sorel early Sunday. Twenty minutes later the Canada went to the bottom. At the time of the collision there were 110 people on board the Canada. Five were lost; the others were rescued.
Those who perished were: Alfred Thibault, ticket agent of the company at Quebec, and his two sons, aged twelve and fifteen; Purser Bonnet-tero of the Canada; a man named Brunet, of Sorel, is missing, and it is supposed that he perished.

The collision occurred just as dawn was breaking. The Cape Breton lay at the entrance of the Lake St. Peter channel waiting for daylight, so as to find her way through. She was getting under way when the Canada, making for Sorel at full speed, came into view.
Just what the collision was due to and who is responsible for it has not yet been determined, for the officers of the Canada decline to talk, but from the statements given out it would appear that the Cape Breton had not got headway on enough to answer her rudder, and that she swerved across the path of the passenger boat, her bow striking the Canada just forward of the paddle-box on the starboard side and tearing its way half through.

Then the Cape Breton swung clear and the two steamers came alongside one another. The shock of the collision aroused the sleeping passengers.
The Canada at once began to settle, and as the Cape Breton did not appear to be seriously damaged the passengers were hurriedly transferred to that steamer. In the excitement some of the passengers jumped overboard and were picked up by boats from the Canada and the Cape Breton, but a great majority of those on board did not become excited, while the discipline shown by the crew of the Canada was excellent.

Twenty minutes later, when the Canada went down alongside the Cape Breton, resting on her side in the mud, all the passengers who could be found had been transferred. Thibault and his two sons occupied a stateroom near where the Cape Breton's bow entered the Canada, and it is supposed that they were killed in their berths.
The body of the father was recovered later in the day, but the remains of the two sons have not been found.

Bonnettero, the purser, was seen after the collision, making his way to his quarters on the lower deck with the intention of saving his cash and records, and it is supposed that he perished in the attempt. Brunet was a second-class passenger and no one saw him after the collision.

BITTER FIGHT PROMISED

The Illinois Democrats Will Not Get Through Without a Struggle.

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—A large number of delegates have arrived and fight. Mayor Carter H. Harrison, J. P.

Hopkins of Chicago, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, contest for control of the organiza-

date for temporary chairman, and if he is not acceptable to the Hearst followers the name of Frank J. Quinn of Peoria will be suggested. The central committee meets today to transact routine business, and the first squab-of Chicago came in with their delegations on the special trains early this morning.

the dense smoke from the burning cigars hindered the firemen to such an extent that they were compelled to work in two-minute relays. The damage to the restaurant was $100,000.

Obituary.

Died at the home of Ellis and Myrtle Culbertson, one mile and a half south of Glenwood, May 29th, little Russell, aged seven months and twenty-one days.

These few words constitute a life short and sweet; only commenced here to be crowned in another world. The curtain of the low green tent swung back to receive its occupant, a tiny bud, while it was to all a picture of purity.

Still this death leaves an aching void to the ever watchful patient and faithful young mother and father, that did all that loving hands could do for little Russell.

Now, parents, you shall miss him, but you shall see the star of hope gleam through the cypress trees, and your grief will thereby be your benediction. And when the sunset gates unbar you shall see the welcome of his little beckoning hand.

O, Russell, dear, can it be true?

To think that thou art gone!

Gone in the joyous flush of youth,
In childhood's early dawn.

Thou wert a flower bright and fair,
Just budding into bloom;
And now to think that thou art laid
Within the silent tomb.

But, parents, there's a comfort still
To check your heavy grief,
And soothing balm to soothe your wounds,
And bring sweet relief.

A hope to meet your baby dear

In an eternal home,

Where you will reunited be,

And partings ne'er shall come.

The bank had a paid-up capital of about $20,000 and deposits of $48,000. The deposits were recently $75,000, but withdrawals of funds by depositors and inability to get cash on paper forced the institution to close. The president and cashier are D. T. Krisher and Dayton Harter, respectively. Krisher was the receiver of the defunct First National Bank of North Manchester, which closed in 1893.

SUDDEN DEATH

Overtaken Abner McKinley at His Home at Somerset.

Somerset, Pa., June 13.—Abner McKinley, brother of the late president, was found dead in a chair in his home. His death came without warning, even to his colored servant, who slept in his room. Mr. McKinley's death was due to Bright's disease, which developed three years ago. The body will be taken to Canton for burial beside his father and mother in Westlawn cemetery. The widow and other members of the family will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Ida S. McKinley, widow of the late president.

Mr. McKinley was the last of four brothers, all of whom met sudden or violent deaths. James McKinley died suddenly of apoplexy on a train near Newcastle, Pa. David McKinley was similarly stricken in San Francisco and the late president died by an assassin's hand at Buffalo.

Canton, O., June 13.—Clifford Boylan, twenty-four years of age, is dying at the hospital and William H. Harrier and Daniel Fitzgerald were shot and cut and bruised as the result of a fight between negroes and white men after a ball game Sunday. Seventeen negroes were arrested, their confinement being necessary, the authorities believe, for the suppression of possible violence by Boylan's friends, who are greatly incensed over his injuries. Police have been instructed to arrest every negro that appears on the scene of the trouble. Should Boylan die his death may be avenged by his friends, but the city officials have prepared for any possible outbreak of the mob spirit.

Shelbyville Opens Gates.

The Shelbyville Democrat offers the good offices of that city to play off the odd game between Rushville and Greensburg. It says: "The Greensburg base ball team on yesterday wall-oped the Rushville team at Rushville by a score of 6 to 3, in Greensburg's favor. Considerable interest is wrought up between our two neighboring cities over the strength of their respective ball teams. Rushville defeated Greensburg recently by a score of two to nothing; therefore, the teams are now a tie, each having won a game. It would hardly be fair to ask either team to play the deciding game at the home of the other. Shelbyville will throw open its pearly gates and welcome both contestants to this city for the third game. The base ball fans of this city will guarantee fair and impartial treatment, and a crowd limited only by the size of the grounds.

"The Democrat now proposes to Greensburg and Rushville to come here and fight it out on neutral ground, and we understand they are considering the advisability of doing so."

A Pleasant Surprise.

The west line of the farm is on the line of Hancock and Rush counties. The farm is known as the Fricker farm and when the history of Rush county was written this farm was called the "Premium" or best farm in Rush county. There are fine improvements on the farm. Mr. Manche's son, Maurice, who lives on Mr. Manche's Blue river, Posey township 300 acre farm on the Morristown pike, will move to the Rush county farm and look after it.

Fesival At Pleasant Ridge.

The Ladies Aid society of the church at Pleasant Ridge, in Walker township, will give a festival at the church next Saturday evening.

UNLIKELY.

A little Boston girl found it difficult to master a stitch in knitting, and her aunt thought to enforce patience by reminding her that Rome was not built in a day. To which came the quick response:

"Oh, aunty, how can you talk so? Don't you know that it took God only six days to make the whole world, and I don't suppose he spent more than half an hour on Rome!"

NEW CASTLE'S TROUBLES.

Has More to the Square Inch than any Town in Indiana.

New Castle has more troubles to the square inch with her interurban lines than any other town in Indiana.

Not content with allowing a measly little telephone pole to stand in the way of the entrance of the I. and E. into the county seat, and consequently through traffic from there to Indianapolis, they have now buried a part of the company's track in town.

They are rather to be admired for their nerve up there, however, in bringing the company to time when necessity demands. The company sometime ago laid a track on Indiana avenue for one block, between South Fourteenth and South Main street, the track being about sixteen inches below the grade. The company, when asked to repair the street, refused to do so, and the street commissioners covered the company's tracks.

Now New Castle has underground interurban railways, the Union traction company's track around the square having been covered since last fall.—Knightstown Journal.

Children Baptized.

Rev. V. W. Tevis at the special service at the M. E. church yesterday baptized five or six children. The service was as usual very beautiful. The little child formerly abandoned in this city, and now being cared for by John M. Stevens and wife, was one of the number.
